INTRODUCTION

"I'm Tanishq Parmar, a 16-year-old Flutter developer proficient in Dart and Django backend development with Python. My passion lies in crafting innovative tech solutions and exploring the intersection of creativity and technology. I specialize in building mobile apps and web platforms, driven by a relentless curiosity and a commitment to learning. Looking to the future, I aim to deepen my expertise in AI and machine learning, actively contribute to open-source projects, and eventually establish my own app or startup. Alongside my technical pursuits, I'm also a musician, aspiring to compose original flute music and merge artistry with technological innovation."
